Asto What Night Have Seen History-A Rude Awakening. To the Editor of the Intelligencer. SIR:-Reading the sorrowful details of death and wounds incurred and inflicted by our brave soldlers in their he-role advance on Santiago, I fell into a raverie, which brought clearly before my mind's eye a very different picture of what might have occurred if political rights had been conferred upon women rights had been conferred upon women five years ago.

Methought that in 1893 the United States supreme court, mindful of the American principle, that "governments derive their just powers from the content of the governed," had decided that the fifteenth amendment, which affirms that "the right of citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged on account of race, color, or previous conditions of servicule by male citizens. In consequence, women became legal voters. Now every class that votes makes itself felt in the women became legal voters now ever-class that votes makes itself felt in the government, and the women voters greatly influenced the choice of Presi-dent and both houses of Congress. The Massachusetts legislature sent Mrs. Ju-lia Ward Howe to the senate, and Mary A Livermore van clearle by the dent and coin nouses of Congress. InMassachusetts legislature sent Mrs. Julia Ward Howe to the senate, and Mary A. Livermore was elected by her congressional district as its representative. When Senator Thurston, on his return from Cuba, made his report on the deliberate, wholesale starvation of non-combatants by Weyler, Hon. Mrs.
Howe electrified the senate by exclaiming. "In the name of American womanhood, this thing must stop!" She atonce secured the passage of a Joint resolution instructing the President to send Clara Barton to Madrid as a plentoptentiary to represent to the queen resent, the cabinet and the Cortes the profound sympathy of the American people with both Spain and Cube, and to negotiate for absolute autonomy,universal simnesty, universal suffrage, and the withdrawal of the Spanish fleet and army. Similar action was taken by the house, which added the name of Senator Thurston, at the suggestion of Congressman Mary A. Livermore, in order that both sexes might be represented.
The President acted promptly, and by common consent further discussion of the Cuban question was postponed one month, and questions of domestic interest were taken up.

Commissioners Barton and Thurston were received at Madrid with courtesy, The queen regent at once granted them a private atidience, to which Sagastia alone was admitted. The enormous waste of Spanish and Cuban life and property, the 'hopelessly' indecisive character of the struggle, the shocking crueliy of Weyler, and the hearty symathy of the ler, and the hearty san American people wit of the American people with parties, were earnesily set forth tribution of one hundred million was suggested, as an additional ent to Spain to accept the offices of the United States in inducement to Spain to accept the friendly offices of the United States in arranging terms of peace.

The consent of the queen regent and Sagasta having been secured, the entire cabinet was enlisted, and later the leaders of all parties in the Cortes. The treaty was then laid before that body. At first there was much opposition; but when Miss Barton, by invitation, appeared before it, bearing in her hand the red cross, and in the name of the enfranchised women of America appealed to Spanish generosity and chivalry, the opposition melted away, and the terms of conciliation were ratified by an overwhelming majority. The leading hewspapers of all parties, previously interviewed, gave their assent, and Martinez D. Campos and Castellar were appointed commissioners on the part of Spain to proceed with Miss Barion and Senator Thurston to Havana, there to pacify the island and arrange for a voluntary withdrawal of the Spanish troops, for the distribution of food and clothing, and for the establishment of a provisional government.

The pacific, reasonable, and numane action of Congress was due to an over-whelming expression of its women contituents all over the country against lemonstrations of a hostile character. Women are less belligerent than men. Throughout nature the male animal is he fighting animal. Thus Secretary Long refused to station an American actics in in Hawana harbor, in consethe fighting animal. Thus Secretary Long refused to station an American battleahip in Havana harbor, in consequence of an earnest remonstrance sgainst his doing so, made by a great meeting in Faneuil Hall called by Mrs. Governor Wolcott, Mrs. Quincy A. Shaw, Mrs. Alice N. Lincoln, Mrs. Edmah D. Cheney, and other eminent women, including several former leaders of the remonstrants. The departure of the Maine, which had actually weighed anchor, was countermanded, and the uneasiness of the Spanish authorities was thereby appeased.

Fear had been expressed that the military authorities in Cuba might refuse to co-operate heartily in this change of policy. But on the contrary, the army and the volunteers welcomed the sommissioners with enthusiasm. The Cuban leaders were at first suspicious if treachery. But General Blance and Garcia met unarmed in a conference with the commissioners, after Miss Barton had first, as president of the Red Cross, visited Garcia in the camp of the insurgents, bearing guarantees both from Mashrigt and from Washington, that ton had first, as president of the Red Cross, visited Garcia in the camp of the insurgents, bearing guarantees both from Madrid and from Washington, that henceforth "Cuba Libra" would be treated as a friend and sily of both countries. The departure of the Spanish fleet from Havana, bearing with it all Spaniards who desired to return, was an occasion of great rejoicing, and a plentiful distribution of food, clothing, seeds and agriculturar implements to all who needed them, was made by the American Red Cross at Havana, Matanzas, Trinidad, Santiago, and other scaports. The result was a speedy return of prosperity alike to Cuba, to Spain, and to the United States. Weyler alone was regarded with universal detestation and contempt, until he put an end to his own life, and passed into ingiorious oblivion.

But while I was in the act of preparing an editorial for the Woman's Journal congratulating the women voters upon the happy result of their benevolent diplomacy. I was awakened by the shrill cries of the newsboy: "A great buttle at Santlago!" "Many Americans killed and wounded!" "Frightful suffering from heat and exposure!" "Great loss of life among the Spaniards!" "The native population starving!" And I noise of the among the operations.

attive population starving!" And awoke to remember, alas! that woman' enfranchisement and the triumph opeace are objects not yet attained.

A cancatenation of causes was responsible for the awakening of the stock market to day from the lethary that has held it for nearly two months. The bears had their innings early in the day, assisted by a lower rate of prices for Americans from London, Later Northwest and its subsidiary road, Omaha, led a rully, and from them the movement broadened and strengthened all through the railroad late. Strength was also radiated from a group of bituminus coal roads, including Norfolk & Western preferred, Chicago, Indianapoits & Louisville preferred, Baltimore & Ohto and Wheeling & Lake Erie preferred. The movement in these stocks served to make them rather conspicuous, the quietude of other soft coal stocks, which have been an important place in the pending plans for amalkamation of the soft coal interests.
